Re: Petition for exemption from the closed captioning rules

New Life Worship Center, a Christian Family Church, is hereby petitioning an exemption from the closed caption requirements for the program, "Life in Christ." Closed captioning would result in a "significant difficulty or expense" on the church. Our video programming distributor does not provide closed captioning as evidenced by enclosed letter. The Life in Christ program does show text with scripture readings and various graphic displays, but these items do not pose any additional expense to the church. It should be noted the Federal Communications Commission had previously provided an exemption to Life in Christ from Closed Captioning rules in September 2006.

Nature and Cost of Closed Captions for the Programming

New Life Worship Center is a non-denominational Christian family church solely supported by the contributions of its members. New Life Worship Center operates under a 501c3 tax status and supports the video program called "Life in Christ," which airs weekly on local television networks. The program is a blessing to the community, and especially to people who are unable to physically attend church, including many elderly people and the disabled.

Over the past two years, 2010 and 2011, the "Life in Christ" television program (the program) operated at a financial loss of $87,782 and $63,678, respectively. The fund statement for the New Life Worship Center program is enclosed. Donations towards the program do not support operating expenses. Closed captioning will result in an additional financial burden of approximately $15,600 for the two half hour Life in Christ programs.. Enclosed is documentation supporting the average cost of closed captioning provided by vendors.

Impact on the Operation of the Provider

New Life Worship Center is a church and non-profit organization that supports all its ministries and operations through contributions. The church has attempted to make the Life in Christ program self-supporting, but to date the program operates at a financial loss to the church, with expenses far exceeding contributions. This can be seen on the enclosed financial fund statement. Additional costs of closed captioning may result in the inability to continue the Life in Christ television program.

Jesus said ... "If I be lifted up from earth, I will draw all men unto me."

Financial Resources of the Provider

New Life Worship Center is the provider of the Life in Christ television program. The church is on a cash basis of accounting and uses fund accounting to report the activities of the various departments. Funds donated by contributors must be applied to the various areas to which donors make their contributions. The enclosed fund statement for the television program Life in Christ shows the annual deficit of the program. The church attempts to raise revenue for the Life in Christ program through sponsors and asking church members for weekly contributions to the program. But contributions do not support expenses as evidenced on the enclosed fund statement. The church has subsidized the losses of Life in Christ. In addition to contributions, the church may use bank credit to support its operations.

Type of Operations of the Provider

New Life Worship Center is a Christian Family Church that has many community ministries including benevolence ministries to the needy, children's and youth programs, missionary outreach, a food pantry and television ministry. The ministries of the church are of tremendous benefit to the community and serve to help the poor and strengthen families and individuals.

The television program of the church, "Life in Christ" provides the community with a Sunday video presentation of the church service. This is beneficial to people who may have challenges physically attending the church. The cost of close captioning places an undue burden on the church as it tries to help needy people.

The Life in Christ television program does show scripture text and graphic displays that support the message being preached on the program. These visual tools communicate effectively but do not pose an undue financial hardship on the church. It has been difficult to generate sufficient revenue to support the Life in Christ program, but we continue to work diligently on keeping the program on air. Any additional costs may result in the church's inability to continue providing the Life in Christ program to people who are benefiting from it, including shut-ins and the elderly.

Should you have any questions, you may call Cindy Albanese or myself at 401-232-5200.

Sincerely,

Re: Petition for exemption from the closed captioning rules under the "undue burden" standard, 47 C.F.R. § 79.1(f)

Dear Mr. Cooney:

As you were previously notified, the Federal Communications Commission received the petition you filed on behalf of New Life Worship Center on October 5, 2005 seeking an exemption from the closed captioning requirements set forth in section 79.1 of the Commission's rules.¹ The exemption sought was based on the undue burden standard set forth in section 79.1(f). As explained below, after careful consideration we grant your petition for exemption from the closed captioning requirements for your "Life in Christ" program.

Pursuant to section 79.1(f) of the Commission's rules, an exemption from closed-captioning requirements may be granted for a channel of video programming, a category or type of video programming, an individual video service, a specific video program or a video programming provider upon a finding that the closed captioning requirements will result in an undue burden upon the petitioner. Furthermore, the statute and the Commission's rules define the term "undue burden" to mean "significant difficulty or expense."² Applying this standard, the Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau recently issued an Order granting exemptions from the closed captioning requirements under the undue burden standard to two entities that are similarly situated to the petitioner in the instant case.³ In that Order, the Bureau noted that in addressing undue burden petitions:

³ Anglers for Christ Ministries, Inc., New Beginning Ministries, Video Programming Accessibility Petitions for Exemption from Closed Captioning Requirements, Case Nos. CGB-CC-0005 and CGB-CC-0007, Memorandum Opinion and Order, DA 06-1802 (CGB rel. Sept. 12, 2006).

[W]e must “balance the need for closed captioned programming against the potential for hindering the production and distribution of programming.” For these reasons, we note that, in the future, when considering an exemption petition filed by a non-profit organization that does not receive compensation from video programming distributors from the airing of its programming, and that, in the absence of an exemption, may terminate or substantially curtail its programming, or curtail other activities important to its mission, we will be inclined favorably to grant such a petition because . . . this confluence of factors strongly suggests that mandated closed captioning would pose an undue burden on such a petitioner.⁴

After careful review of the circumstances set forth in your petition, and in light of the relevant precedent discussed above, we conclude that application of the closed captioning requirements in this case would cause an undue burden. We therefore grant your petition pursuant to section 79.1(f).⁵

Any inquiries regarding this matter should be directed to the undersigned at (202) 418-1475 (voice), (202) 418-0597 (TTY), or Thomas.Chandler@fcc.gov. Please refer to the case identifier number noted above in any email correspondence or telephone conversations with Commission staff.

Sincerely,

Thomas E. Chandler
Chief, Disability Rights Office
Consumer and Governmental Affairs Bureau

⁵ Section 79.1(f) sets forth certain procedures to guide the Commission’s consideration of undue burden petitions, including that the petition be placed on Public Notice and that the petition contain detailed facts supported by affidavit. 47 C.F.R. § 79.1(f)(5)-(9). The Commission, however, may waive its rules for good cause, and, in light of the facts set forth in your petition and the precedent discussed above, we conclude that waiving these requirements in the instant case is consistent with the public interest.
